Descriptif

At the end of the village, in the hamlet of Mollard, a path goes through the meadows and becomes a trail. After the Nant du Rand (small stream), stay on the upper path that crosses the hillside: it joins the one coming from Barberine and goes up towards the stream where the waterfall is.

Return : by the same itinerary, through the village of Barberine, going down about 100 m on the RD1506, then going up to the right in a clearing.
A few steps near the oratory allow you to pass over the tunnel the tunnel of the SNCF track and to join the path of the Black Water which goes up on the right to Vallorcine.

Notes : Interesting visit of the Maison de Barberine (Vallorcin museum), open in July and August, located at the exit of the village on the RD1506 side
